24 hour emerge. approved for Minden Hospital

by Andrew Milne

Minden Hospital will remain open through the night, at least for this winter.

The health services board voted last Friday to keep the facility open 24 hours, at least until the end of the fiscal year — the end of March, 1997.

The board made the decision when it was discovered it was around $150,000 ahead of budget projections for the year to date.

The move is projected to consume around $50,000 of that surplus. Some of the remainder will go to funding a salaried position the province will not fund. What's left after that, the board hopes, will become its first budget surplus.

The facility is also expected to run 24 hours through the summer, as per the current operating plan, meaning it's probably now going to be open, day and night, until at least September of 1997.

There were no cheers when the vote passed, though there were a few smiles. It was as though everyone was too tired for applause.

However, county representative Ross Rabjohn, speaking for the finance committee, which suggested the move, did deliver the recommendation with a small flourish.

Said Rabjohn, "It gives me great pleasure to recommend that Minden Hospital be kept open on a 24 hour basis."

A motion based on the recommendation passed later without opposition.

Staff in the wards, reacting to the news Friday night, were elated.

Said one nurse, who asked not to be named, "I think we were really more worried about it from a community standpoint than we were about losing our jobs... We're all members of this community. We have family and friends who come here. Some of us have been here ourselves as patients. Somehow I think it really started to hit home in the last few weeks, when we realized it might not be here."

The decision follows the somewhat raucous events of last month's board meeting, when citizens from Minden's catchment area attended to voice their disapproval that the board was even considering closing Minden Hospital during the night. Regional tensions flared briefly, as some accused the board of favouring Haliburton's catchment area.

It is, in the larger picture, only a small reprieve for the facility, and one which really only partially reverses recent cuts. The facility has had a rough few years. Since April of 1995, it has lost its in-patient ward, and the majority of its staff. It's running on a skeleton staff basis now — an RN and an RPN through the days, an RN through most of the night. There is exactly one full time local doctor qualified to staff the wards — far too few to run a viable roster.

Thanks, however, to a new provincial program that funded doctors working rural emergency wards overnight, and to the efforts of a rotating crew of medical staff who commute from outside the county, there's a doctor in the building 24 hours. And whittled down though they are, the staff that's still on duty say things seem to be clicking again. Something, as one doctor puts it, of a miracle has happened here, considering what things looked like as recently as last year. Not only is the hospital still open, but it's doing some excellent emergency care.

The province's program pays doctors working in rural emergency wards $70 per hour, if the traffic at the site is not high enough to fund them adequately through OHIP billings. That Minden Hospital will remain open 24 hours a day through the winter as a result of a decision by the Health Services Board on Friday.

With gleaming apples and a broad smile members of the local Minden Boy Scouts were out in force Saturday. The occasion was their annual Apple Day. Beavers Brandon Sutcliffe, left and Dillon Holmes were on duty in front of the Valu-mart in Minden.

Township buys Club 35

by Jerry Grozelle

Stanhope Township is buying the Club 35 property at Halls Lake. The purchase won't affect access to the facility by the existing members, who currently number about 45.

The building is used for euchre competitions and regular seniors' club meetings, as well as other functions.

Stanhope Reeve Jock Mavor said the building is also be used for such functions as family gatherings, anniversary celebrations and other events which don't require space for more than 100 people.

"It has a very nice kitchen, central heating and air conditioning," Mavor said.

The purchase price for the facility was $17,000, plus legal costs.

Stanhope councillor Murray Daniels, who is also a Club 35 member, explained that when the renovations were recently completed, the members' share of the $177,000 cost was about $77,000. Fund-raising efforts fell short, so a few individuals stepped forward and offered a total of about $38,000 in the form of an interest free loan. The club has paid back all but $17,000 of that loan, hence the $17,000 (plus legal fees) selling price to the township.

With ownership of the property, comes the responsibility of maintenance. But the euchres bring in between $3,000 and $3,500 annually and that money will be turned over to Stanhope Township. Daniels added that another $1,000 per year comes in for rental of the hall.

Mavor said there are no specific plans for the building at the moment, other than the seniors' club. He said the township offered the building to the Ontario Provincial Police, but police officials informed Stanhope officials that provincial officials aren't entertaining options of moving OPP detachments to property that isn't owned by the province.

Mavor said a fee structure for rental of the facility hasn't been set. The deal hasn't been finalized. There is a requirement that all of the club members must be advised in writing regarding the disposition of the property. Mavor expects that to be accomplished within a week to 10 days.

The original building was constructed in 1952 and was completely renovated in 1991, when a 24 by 36 foot addition was built to house the kitchen and washrooms. The building is about 1,600 square feet on the ground floor, with a full basement. The land is 150 feet wide (frontage on Highway 35) by 200 feet deep.

"The club actually started in 1947," Daniels explained. "One of the founding members, Edith Russell, who is 95 years old, is still an active member."

Daniels said that the facility is not strictly for use by seniors.

"We have 10 year-old children coming with their grandparents," he said.

The facility was renovated with a Wintario grant, as a social club. It is used mainly by seniors. An agreement was signed with Wintario that the building must be available for a certain length of time for public use. Daniels said that the club has an agreement with the municipality that it can use the facility for another five years, with an option to renew the agreement.

If the club wants to hold a fund-raising event, it will rent the facility from the township. Otherwise, profits from the use of the building will go to the municipality.

TSW final report

The Haliburton lakes were down to 50.6% on October 7. This level is about 6% above the 21 year average. The lakes in 1995 were very near normal at this time, but rose a great deal, up to 65%, by mid November.

The flows everywhere continue much above normal for the time of year. Some of the Kawartha lakes have returned to their respective ranges, while others still need to decline further. The lakes peaked at 106% and are now back at 100% compared to the normal at this time of the year of 92%.

This is the final water levels report of the year.

This report was issued October 9, 1996.

Lost hunter finds own way out of bush

A 63 year old Thornhill man found his own way out of the bush near East Lake Friday morning after being reported missing by his companions.

Martin Vantol had been scouting an area of heavy bush north of Fort Irwin Thursday when he apparently became lost. The police were notified at about 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

The OPP Emergency Rescue team, a helicopter and K-9 units responded to the call. Assisted by the Haliburton County Search and Rescue Support Team the searchers began combing the area at first light Friday morning.

The man was able to find his own way out of the bush and reached a cottage on Kingscote Lake from where he contacted authorities at about 9:15 Friday morning.

Vantol had spent the night in the bush and travelled about 13 kilometres from the point where he was last seen. The man was unhurt by his night in the bush.

Clarification

It may have been warm in early September, but not quite as warm as our report last week indicated. The high temperature for the month, recorded on September 2, was 29.0 degrees (84.2) not the 39.0 degrees as was reported. Also, the rainfall comparison should have read that there was 161.4 mm (6.3 inches) of rain in September 1985 not 1995.

Minden Hospital emergency to remain 24 hour operation move has considerably reduced the cost of keeping rural hospitals going.

The board, prior to its decision last week, had said it feared it wouldn't have the money to keep Minden going. They had only recently taken over responsibility for the county's two hospitals from former parent hospital St. Joseph's of Peterborough. Both local hospitals had continually run deficits under St. Joseph's management. The local board, with no reserves, facing a province that promised there would be no help forthcoming for budget overruns, expected something would have to give.

Minden had already taken, as described above, a number of hits to staffing levels, and had been closed at nights for a brief period prior to the local board's taking over. The board had proposed, in its original operating plan to the Ministry of Health, that the facility be closed for the nights through the winter to cut costs.

However, some board members protested throughout the process that closing Minden would leave too many people at risk. Staff questioned why Minden, which had already suffered the brunt of the blows of budget restrictions, should suffer farther. The public, in bits and starts, protested — sometimes, as last month, with vehemence. And when the cuts levied (largely at Minden) started yielding dividends larger than they had anticipated, the board seemed relieved to be able to relent.

Hugh Nichol, chair of the Haliburton Highlands Health Services board, credited executive director Foster Loucks, and hospital staff, for the unexpected surplus that has allowed Minden to stay open.

Said Nichol, "Foster has done an excellent job. He and his staff are to be commended. It's because of their efforts that we're able to do this."

The board's long-term planning does not assume the facility — or that new one meant to replace it (see related story) — will necessarily remain a 24 hour service in perpetuity. Both the Minden and Haliburton sites, under capital planning underway, would be built to accommodate a 24 hour service if necessary. But at various times, they wouldn't necessarily be used 24 hours. Usage figures from a recent role study suggest, according to the board's official policy, that running two 24 hour emergency services in the county (currently Minden and Haliburton) is not sustained by patient traffic, and the Minden site was expected to be the first to be reduced.

Closing either facility during the night currently leaves a rather large service gap in terms of geography, but in the long run, the board says it hopes it may be able to come up with innovative approaches — possibly including the use of paramedics and nurse-practitioners — to help make things work.

However, those innovations aren't in place yet. So the board isn't going to close or reduce the existing Minden service anytime soon, they say, if they can possibly help it. Potentially, depending on how trends go, and depending on just what kind of innovations the board can come up with, it may never do so.

In the midst of the fractious meeting of last month, board members — including Nichol, who spoke at length on the subject in reaction to the public criticism — declared they were committed to seeing that both communities got 24 hour service, even if they had to make cuts for the short term. This month, they confirmed that they wouldn't have to do so.

"We don't know yet," said Nichol last week, "but things seem to be looking a little better. We want to be able to put away as much of this surplus as we can as well. Who knows what the future will hold? But we can run Minden."

Victoria/Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson, and HHHS Executive Director Foster Loucks, discuss the recent decision by the Health Services Board in front of the Minden Hospital. The hospital's emergency service remain open 24 hours per day through the winter, thanks, in large part, to the provincial government's program to fund doctors working in rural emergency wards.

Stanhope may move permit sales to retail locations

Stanhope Township may soon be trying a system where taxpayers will be able to pick up dog licence and building permit applications at businesses in the municipality.

It was pointed out that people who work the day shift may not have the opportunity to pick up such municipal necessities without taking time off work. It was also noted that the township sells an average of 40 to 50 dog licences each year, which is probably a 10th the number of dogs.

Permits could be for sale in retail locations (from page 3)

By-law officer Jim Moore said it would reduce the time required to process licence applications.

"A standard instruction sheet could be handed out with the applications," Moore said.

Deputy-Reeve Eleanor Harrison asked if any consideration was given to the cost for business people to make their time available to serve as municipal agents. It was suggested that a percentage of the licence fee is customary. Stanhope Clerk-Treasurer Gerald Bain said that the Township had nothing to lose and that it could result in a few more dog licence sales.

Fly-In successful

Stanhope Airport Manager Dennis LaFleur reported that the Fall Colours Fly-In was very successful. He said that more than 60 pilots registered over the two-day event and another 10 to 15 didn't register.

A total of 1,350 litres of aviation fuel was sold over the weekend.

LaFleur expressed his appreciation for the volunteers who helped with the Fly-In, including Maple Sands, the Stanhope Fire Department and the Kawartha Old Car Club.

 The Times

With community support and a lot of love

by Andrew Milne

There are flowers in the vases.

There's a singing cockatiel in the kitchen.

On every pillow, there's a stuffed animal; on every bed, a home made quilt. Colourful murals, and the artwork of the children who have stayed here, adorn the walls.

One year after its opening, SIRCH's Women's Emergency House feels very much like a home.

Says coordinator Sheila Whiting, "It really is homey. That's one of the things a lot of the women who have stayed here have noticed about the place."

The community can thank itself for that, she says. On the facility's first anniversary, Whiting and SIRCH executive director Gena Robertson say they'd like nothing more than to thank the volunteers and the supporters in the community at large who have made it all possible.

"You have to keep that in mind, looking at it," says Whiting. "Everything in here — and I mean everything — has been donated. A lot of those donations were quite substantial. People have given us appliances, furniture. We couldn't do what we do without the help we've had from the community... Some of the stories I could tell, about children who donate their toys, because they're thinking about what it must be like for the children here who leave their homes with nothing — and then imagine when a child staying here hears that someone gave up their toy for them — it just breaks your heart. People just give and give."

They stand in front of a wall in the garage, packed full of blankets, furniture, toys, other items for which they have no other room. It's a monument, ten feet high and at least five times as long to the dedication of the people that give to this place. The garage, they say, is filling up.

And then, there are the volunteers. There's no stopping, say Whiting and Robertson, once they get on the subject of the volunteers.

"We have 21 women," says Whiting, "who volunteer here. They staff the phone lines 24 hours a day. When there are women and children staying here, there has to be someone here 24 hours a day too. It's just unbelievable the hours they put in sometimes. And they are such a great group... They really get along, and I think that rubs off on the women who stay here. It makes it a lot easier for them."

"It's very much a close group, very much a proactive, caring group of women. They are phenomenal. There are no words to explain them. We couldn't survive without them."

They really do get along. A group interview, with a dozen of those women, is an almost riotous affair. They apologize, as they dissolve into laughter, their affection for one another and for this place shining through. "You might have noticed," says one, "We laugh a lot here."

They laugh a surprising amount, for a staff that deals in the stuff of personal tragedies. But then, they say, it's never the tragedies they find themselves focusing on.

Says Sharon Lynch, "It's been a pleasant surprise, as far as working with the other volunteers, it's just been wonderful... It's not depressing work at all."

Says Pat Cummings, "It's almost uplifting. It's really uplifting."

Claire Sylvan agrees. "I find uplifting is the word. I find that I get a lot from the courage and the stamina

— the qualities of the women that come through here, just learning from them how they cope with their lives. It's a learning experience for me. Every time there's someone here you learn something from them."

Says Cummings, "I guess the thought would be that you're just dealing with the fact that they were here because they were abused, but then you get to know them, the fact that they all have special qualities. There have been some really neat people."

Says Ginny Heming, "It's usually difficult when they first come in, in the first few days, because of what they're dealing with, and then it's nice to see the transition, them feeling better about themselves and the decisions they've made... It's been the best thing I've ever done."

Etta Parker agrees. "I would second that," she says. For all that the WEH takes good care of people, however, says Whiting, it's hardly an easy thing for many of the tenants.

"It's not a spa weekend here," she says. "We have communal living. There might be several families staying here. The women are included in the preparation of the meals, cleaning. It's difficult sometimes. It's a really nice house, and it's comfortable, but it's not the kind of place you choose to come."

The politics that surrounded the opening of the place aside, say the volunteers, they aren't hearing much of that now.

"People have been really supportive," says one. "I can't say I've heard anything that's been negative. People have commented that they still can't really see how much need there is for this... But I think that's just because it's so hidden. There's always been a tendency to sweep things like this under the carpet, pretend it doesn't happen here."

It clearly does happen here. The house has already been full, which, says Whiting, is something of an experience in itself. It seemed to take, says Robertson, a while for word to get around, and the number wasn't in the phone book until this year's edition.

They didn't, she says, really know what to expect. "We knew it was out there," she said. "But we couldn't know how much. And we couldn't know how safe people would feel coming here."

The volunteers say that they've felt safe here. The police presence is good, and the fire hall is just across the parking lot. There's a good alarm system, and precautions are taken. There's also a screening procedure, and in cases where higher security is required, the WEH suggests safer places.

The women who've stayed here also seem to speak well of the place. Letters written by two of them speak of the homey atmosphere, the sense of safety, and the sense of being accepted.

"We try to be non-judgemental," says Robertson.

"Whatever their needs are, we try to help them with that. If they want access to counselling, we'll help them find it."

"Some of them will come in literally with the clothes on their back, and nothing else. They come in, and there's one or two volunteers here who immediately help them with the kids, get them to bed, whatever. They're just to help them normalize their life a little bit. We really work around what their needs are. If they want to be connected with the Women's Safety Network, we'll do that. If they want to sit and talk, we'll do that. If they just want a break from the kids or whatever to get their life together, we'll do that... Some of them will go back to their homes, and that's okay too. It's their call."

There's a limit on the stay here — the place by definition is a short term stay facility. But usually the women seem to manage just fine.

Says Whiting, "A lot of them, when they first get here, think there's no way they can get it together in a few weeks, but they always seem to manage. Usually after ten days they've found another place, worked something out."

Though they do get to know, after a fashion, the women who stay here, the volunteers say they also have to be ready to let go. "There have been tears," says Whiting, "when it's time to leave."

"But," says Heming, "you can't take that home with you. You have to let go, and you can't let it take over. You really do have to know when to go home."

They're approaching 10,000 volunteer hours. Volunteers, apart from their work at the home, staff the centre's phone 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Whiting says, though the people they have now are wonderful, they would like to see some more volunteers come forward. "It's a lot of work even for this many, and we'd be a lot more comfortable with a few more," she says.

Though in kind donating has been phenomenal, cash always seems to be in short supply.

"Money always seems to be a problem," says Whiting. "I'm paid a salary, for 35 hours per week (she works considerably more than this most weeks). There's the per diem rate that actually pays the rent when women are staying here, but that doesn't go very far."

They can't say if they've saved lives. "You never know, of course," says Robertson.

"But yes," she says, smiling, "we take a big pleasure from the fact that this place is up and running. It's great."

The accolades have gone a long way too. They've been mentioned in Chatelaine, and a booklet written on the project, From Dream to Reality, was mentioned in the last issue of Via a Vis — a sort of social services trade publication until recently run by the Ministry of Community and Social Services. The house is becoming, says Robertson, a model for similar projects elsewhere. "We've had lots and lots of requests for information. I can see this," she says, "being applied to other problems as well — for all the teens roaming the street."

Says Parker, of volunteering at the place, "It gives you a sense of belonging in the community, and of making a difference. You make a difference in someone's life, whether it be a little or a larger thing. But you're making a difference in someone's life that needs it."

Week highlights needs of the mentally ill

by Andrew Milne

"One in five Canadians," says June Philip, "will suffer from mental illness at some time in his or her life. One in eight will be hospitalized. People don't realize this. They have no idea it's so prominent."

"It comes down to secrecy. There should be no shame involved in mental illness, but there is. That's it in a nutshell. No one thinks about it. Everyone always thinks it's going to happen to someone else. They don't want any part of it. They don't think about it until it does happen to them, or to a member of their family. And even then, they often don't even get help because they're afraid."

Philip is coordinating Mental Illness Awareness Week locally, a national effort intended to raise the profile of mental illnesses.

This year's week is concentrating on two themes related to the issue: the social invisibility of mental illnesses, and the need for coordination between services working in the field.

Philip says she feels the latter theme is particularly relevant in Haliburton County, where much of the mental health service delivery tends to be the ad hoc, the untried, and the informal.

Says Philip, "We're trying a lot of different things up here — there's the new group being organized under the Health Services Board, and the community investment fund model, there are self help groups, there are the patients who go outside the region. That's good, but it's important that everyone is together on this, and people know what everyone else is doing."

Philip is also secretary of the group organizing the new counselling centre, to be set up under the umbrella of Haliburton Highlands Health Services. Her group also has limited money in its budget for publicizing mental illnesses, something she says is vital.

"People with mental illnesses," she commented, "often suffer profoundly because they feel so alone... I believe that if more people were aware of its prominence, and how common it was, and if there were fewer phobias and less of a stigma surrounding mental illness, it would be a little easier on them."

Philip says that, as the transition proceeds in which her group moves from SIRCH to the HHHS, things are settling down, and she hopes that in the end the community will be well served by the centre. Nonetheless, she says, there are still service gaps in this area — gaps she hopes some day to see filled.

"Crisis intervention," she says, "is the big thing. We need a 24 hour crisis intervention line accessible in this county, and available to people with serious mental illnesses... We need people trained at the hospitals and available — trained and able to go. Especially in remote areas like our county. If there is crisis intervention, suicide prevention in a desperate situation, it will often stop there, and that person will get help, rather than being allowed to fall through the cracks. There's no funding for that yet though. Maybe someday."

A seminar on serious mental illnesses — a highlight of the events of the week — will be held at PineStone at 7:00 p.m. on Thursday, October 17, featuring Dr. Barry Jones, a leading professor of psychiatry involved in psychopharmacological research at Eli Lilly. Admission is free. The coordinators expressed appreciation to PineStone for the donation of the room.

The proposed Haliburton Hospital/long term care development, on the existing site. The two acute care wings would be added roughly where the heliport is currently located, and the ambulatory care ward would be renovated to fit current codes, and to allow ambulance access at the front of the building. The heliport would then be moved to a spot on the lake side of the site. Board establishes capital objectives

by Andrew Milne

There's good news, and there's bad news.

The good news is the Haliburton Highlands Health Services board, after what amounts to a decade-long process, voted last week on the basic framework of building and renovations with which aging hospital facilities in Haliburton and Minden will be replaced.

Architects' plans were viewed, and a project which has been until now almost entirely abstract, and frustratingly slow, began to take a concrete shape. The board finally approved plans in which the Hyland Crest long term care facility will be replaced with a new building (in which will also be housed an emergent care ward replacing Minden Hospital). Two new wings, housing acute care wards, will be added to the Haliburton Hospital.

The bad news is, they're not quite sure yet how they're going to pay for it. The estimate for the work is around $13.8 million — about $3.2 million higher than the $10.6 million, for which the project is funded.

A host of factors have lead to the difficulty. Crucially, the role of long term care facilities has been far more precisely defined since Hyland Crest was originally built, and, more to the point, even since the original project cost estimate was done in 1993. Standards for long term care were greatly revised and upgraded in 1994, and Hyland Crest, which before might just have been renovated, could no longer be used as a base from which to create a new facility.

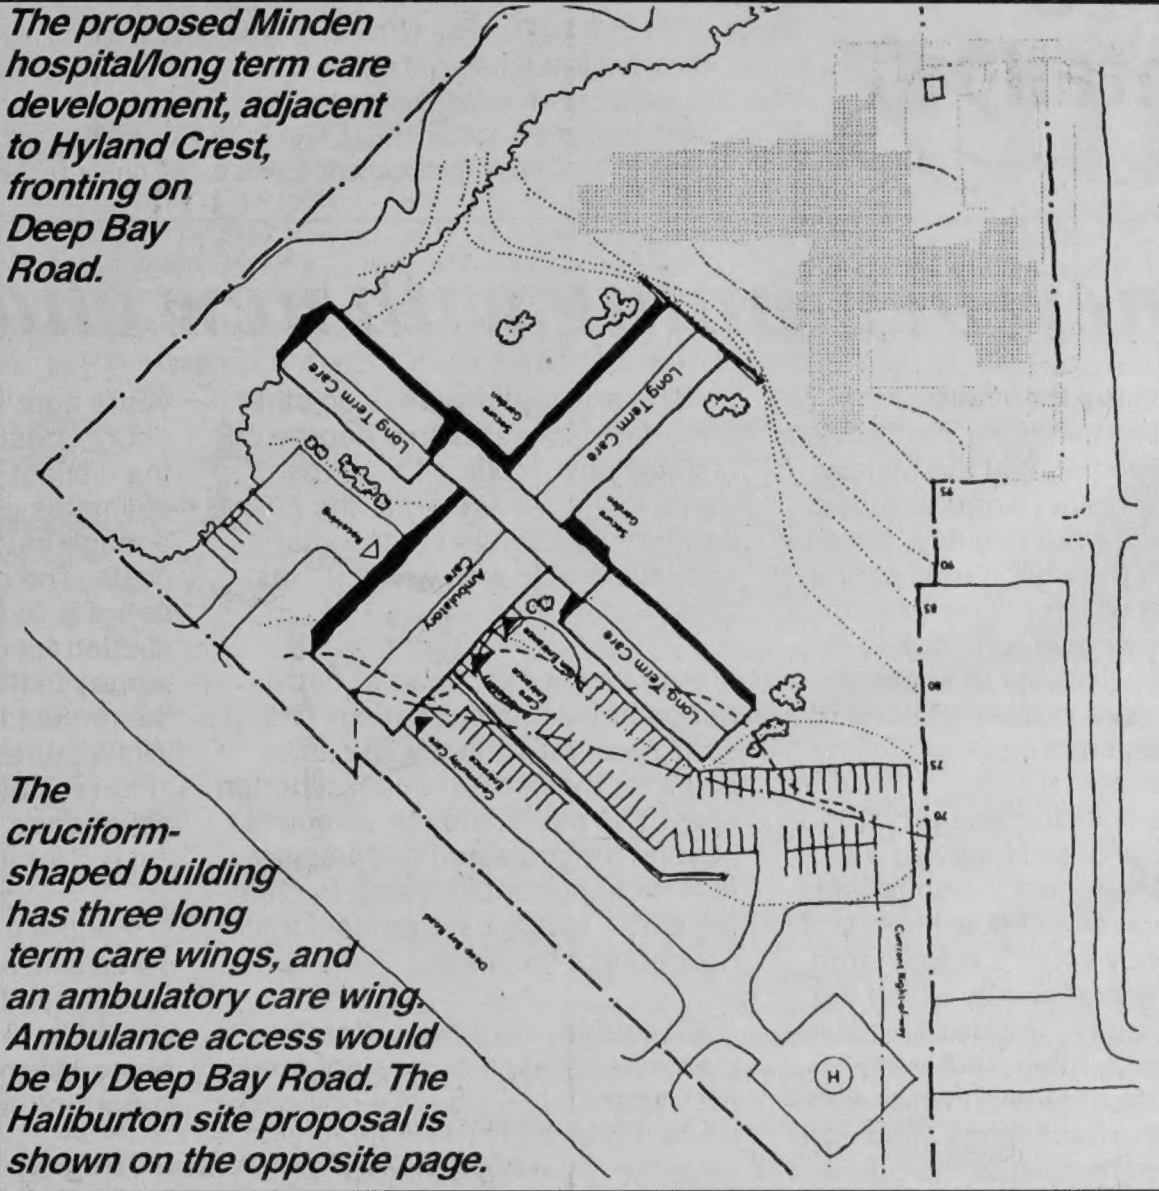

As Jim Baker, from the Ministry of Health's (MOH) long term care division put it, "We didn't know what business we were in when Hyland Crest was first built. We thought we were in the housing business... We know better now, and the standards reflect that. Most of the residents of these buildings are no longer ambulatory — that means larger rooms, bathrooms that are wheelchair accessible adjacent to the rooms, and common areas that everyone can get to. All of that comes with costs."

Apart from that complication, the sites are difficult — typical shield territory, with steep slopes, and, on one site, swamps to contend with.

Current residents of Hyland Crest would be re-

The proposed Minden hospital/long term care development, adjacent to Hyland Crest, fronting on Deep Bay Road.

operating budget.

"Besides, capital investment is an investment you make for 40 years... You want this thing to still be serving its function in 40 years."

Baker did not suggest the MOH would provide additional money for the project, in light of the board's difficulties. He suggested, rather, that the board might be able to "shuffle" the funds available, to make the project possible, and alluded to the possibility of finding a private sector partner.

Consensus on which plans to advance for approval, and in what fashion to advance them, took some time to achieve. Inside of an hour, however, the board made up its mind. The plans now go to the Ministry of Health, for approval with respect to consistency with the capital project.

Jitters over the decision, says executive director Foster Loucks, had led the board to consider, briefly, meeting in closed session prior to the decision. They decided against doing so.

Says Loucks, "I guess we were just nervous. It's a big decision, and a hard one to make... But this way all the cards are on the table. You cated in the new facilities to be built.

The board has known for some time this might happen. A cursory examination of the Hyland Crest physical plant, shortly after the architects had been brought on board, suggested that more serious renovations than previously expected would be necessary.

When initial plans came back from the architects, the costs were, as expected, high. The board ordered them to cut wherever they could, and to come up with a plan that would fit the budget.

The budget, however, built on assumptions that no longer applied, did not prove adequate. The firm (consultants Agnew Peckham, architects Montgomery and Sisam) came up with a plan that fit the bottom line — a plan that made minimal renovations to Hyland Crest. But the MOH's representative was less than impressed.

Said Baker, "You have to consider that the capital expenditure, over the life of a building, is a fairly small amount, compared against the operating budget... If you go with a plan like this — renovations instead of rebuilding — it costs you more to operate. We expect you to build to fit a program that will fit the know everything we know this way, and I do feel a little better about that."

Hyland Crest

A side effect of the decision is that the current Hyland Crest building's fate is now, once again, a subject for discussion. Baker suggested it might be developed for senior's apartments — its original intended use, and that this might help pay for the capital project as well.

However, Hyland Crest's ownership is complicated. It is currently county property, but the assumption has been, through recent talks between the health board and the county, that they board would take it over.

Said county warden Murray Fearrey, who was present for the meeting, "We need to know: is it our property or yours? Is it yours just if you want to do something with it?"

The property, even vacant, would cost the county or the board considerably in upkeep costs. Board chair Hugh Nichol acknowledged the issue would have to be negotiated.

A new beginning with new challenges

Editorial

Hats off to the members of the Haliburton Highlands Health Services Board for agreeing that the Minden Hospital emergency service should remain open 24 hours a day, seven days a week through to next spring. It is a decision which will be welcomed by the many people who look to the facility for the security of knowing emergency care is close at hand if and when required.

While the decision was prompted by the fact the board now has a surplus of funds, we feel it also reflects the realization of just how important the emergency service is to a large portion of the community which the board represents. The decision will also put to rest, temporarily, the constant state of tension which has existed at board meetings. This conflict has often hampered the board in making any real progress on other important issues. With a degree of stability now in place for all residents in the service area, the board can turn its attention to the vital capital projects with which it must deal.

And that is exactly what happened at the same meeting. The board was presented with capital plans for the Minden and Haliburton sites. The plans, though somewhat beyond the projected budget, provide an important first step to creating a new health care model for all residents of the area.

Of course, the troubling feature is that the capital plan does not match the expenditure originally envisioned when the Ministry of Health first gave the green light almost two years ago. In that time, there is no doubt, costs have risen. There is also the distinct possibility that the original estimates were not based on detailed enough studies to reflect accurate costs. The challenge now before the board is to find a fit that works with the allotted funds or raise the additional money that will be needed to complete the projects as presented on Friday. While there is a good chance the resolution will be a combination of both, in either case the board will have its work cut out for it.

For the moment, however, all residents who are represented by the members of the Health Services Board should be thankful that they have agreed to move ahead in this very important building project.

Overcrowding at HHSS

The following is a letter from the department heads at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School sent to Victoria/Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson:

Dear Mr. Hodgson:

We are seeking your assistance and support in resolving an issue that we believe is of critical importance to the present and future students and staff of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. We are most dismayed at the apparent lack of progress toward a capital funding commitment for an addition to Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

As you know, the existing facilities were designed to accommodate a maximum of 550 students, yet enrolment has swelled to 750 students and it is projected to increase again next year. The school's cafeteria seats only 120 students, the science laboratories are small and outdated, and arts facilities are inadequate. The largest of our two gymnasiums is undersized, and the second is even smaller. Our gyms are so small that we cannot host indoor athletic events, and so Haliburton County students must play all their games in other venues, incurring substantial board-funded travel costs. Currently six portable classrooms are in use. To accommodate the number of students wishing to take many of our courses, individual class sizes are growing, and students' educational opportunities are being restricted by the physical limitations of our facilities.

We are aware that your government declared a moratorium on capital funding for new construction, but we understood it was to be for one year only to allow for a review of funding procedures for additions already proposed.

Can we be informed about what progress has been made with this review and more specifically the status of Haliburton County's requests for approval to build new facilities at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School?

We believe the present inadequacies of the high school's facilities are detrimentally affecting Haliburton County students, and the problems will worsen as the enrolment continues to rise. They can only be resolved by proceeding with the planned addition of new gymnasiums, science labs and classrooms without further delay. It is our view that construction should begin in the spring of 1997. The students of Haliburton County need your assistance and support in this crucial matter. We trust you will give it your urgent attention.

Thank you for your assistance.

Bruce Griffith, Bill Johnston, Paul Morissette, Al Oakley, Bob Penfold, Kit Pizzey, Glen Scully, Dave Stephenson, Irv Sternberg and Walter Tose.

Snowdon council responds to editorial

The following is a press release issued by the municipal council of Snowdon in response to the editorial appearing in last week's edition of The Times.

Snowdon Council, meeting on October 7, 1996 has approved petitioning the Ministry of the Environment and Energy for a one-time amendment to the Certificate of Approval on the Irondale landfill site for permission to accept waste material from outside the municipality.

Stung by recent criticism, Council reviewed the process that had brought it to the point of making the application to the MOEE, including extensive consultation with the Ministry office.

Council noted that other overtures from outside interests seeking dumping privileges at the site have been rejected outright, despite the promise of large financial returns, and that no consideration was given to this proposal until proper analysis was received indicating the material to be received did not pose a health or safety risk to the community.

The township Clerk has also indicated to Council that any long-term proposal to open access to the landfill site by outside interests would require a full-scale Environmental Assessment by the MOEE.

Two independent firms have conducted analysis on the material to be deposited, which have been received and approved by MOEE personnel. The MOEE Durham District Office classified the material as "a solid, registerable, non-hazardous waste...suitable for disposal at any waste disposal site approved to accept solid non-hazardous waste."

Council also noted that guidelines were received from the Ministry detailing the Notice provisions and process for securing the one-time amendment, of which all the criteria have been complied with fully. No requirement exists for Council to convene a public meeting under these circumstances. Notice is extended to the abutting property owners as a courtesy, with provision for comment to Council.

This was done, albeit within a short time frame, but as noted by council, in excess of the 10 day Notice provision for a Minor Variance as provided by the Planning Act.

Council has again engaged Robinson Consultants, who developed the Site Plan and Capacity Study at the Township Landfill sites, to provide technical expertise in the handling of the material to facilitate operational and maintenance activities on the site over the long-term. Properly implemented, the consultants have indicated the impact of the material on the site's capacity is minimal.

Earlier studies on the Irondale landfill site indicated that with significant alterations and implementation studies on the site, the potential exists for a 150 year lifespan. The existing methodology for receiving and processing waste at the site projected a 30 to 40 year lifespan (this was also prior to implementation of the present recycling program.)

On-going water sample analysis is also part of the regular monitoring program, as conducted by the consultants, and reviewed by MOEE staff as well as Council.

Monies received are designated by Snowdon Council to discharge the long-term loan obligations of the municipality, to better position the Township in restructuring negotiations, as well as to enhance the Irondale landfill site as a significant municipal asset.

Snowdon Reeve George Simmons has noted that the proposal to accept the Whitby material and the site plans developed with the consultants will substantially enhance the appearance and operations at the landfill site.

Efforts to minimize the impact of truck traffic to the site were considered by Council through an extended period over which the material may be accepted at the site, with monitoring of conditions and control over road access extended to the Township Road Superintendent. As required by the MOEE, records will be maintained and the loads documented to properly track quantities of the waste material received at the site.

In response to the criticism levelled at the Council in the editorial in The Times, Council reiterated that all actions taken by the municipality were considered in open session of the Council and full compliance with Ministry of the Environment and Energy regulations.

On the greater issues raised by the editorial, Council acknowledges the need for debate and consultation over public services on a broader scale, given the significant cuts to provincial transfer payments, the impact of downloading responsibilities, with no fiscal relief, and the decline of the area economy. These are part 'n parcel of the overall discussions needed to move the agenda on restructuring.

The demise of the Waste Management Plan for implementation throughout the county, which would have addressed some of the concerns suggested in the editorial; the failure to develop a County Official Plan to direct a consistent approach to land use throughout the county, including Watershed Management; and the impasse in reaching a resolve to the issue of Health Care facilities in the county, are just a few of the issues having a negative impact on the economy of Haliburton County.

Anon

Do you ever think what it must be like for a newcomer to Canada? I mean a real newcomer--someone from Sri Lanka or Hong Kong or Ulan Bator who not only has never heard of k d lang or W. Gretsky--but doesn't even speak English?

Can you imagine trying to learn English as a second language?

How long would it take you to figure out what a sign like NO THROUGH STREET means? How long would it take you just to figure out how to pronounce that second word--is it "thruff" as in 'rough'? 'Throff' as in 'trough'? 'Throe' as in 'though'? 'Thrup' as in 'hiccough'? Or is it 'thraow' as in 'bough'?

No, as a matter of fact it's 'throo' as in 'through'.

In the labyrinthine logic of English, we lie in bed but lay an egg. A song is sung but a criminal is hanged. And we don't pronounce the 'p' in pneumonia, and the 'd' in Wednesday, or the entire middle of words like Worcester and Leicester.

Or, for that matter, the 'gh' in 'through'.

'Ch' is pronounced one way in 'character' another way in 'charter'. Same with the letter 'g' in 'general' and 'gun'.

I'm glad I was born into an English-speaking family--I don't think I could ever learn it from a book.

Especially if the book contained 'Janus' words.

Are you familiar with Mister Janus? He was a God the Romans honoured a couple of thousand years ago. Janus was Heaven's doorman as far as they were concerned, and when they built statues of him, the Roman's gave Janus two faces: one facing forward and the other astern.

That's where the concept of Janus words comes from. They too have two faces, or meanings---they face 180 degrees away from each other.

Take the word 'cleave'. A loving couple can cleave to one another. But an axe can cleave a chunk of firewood. Thus 'cleave' means to stick together and to split apart.

Go figure.

How about the word 'sanction'? The government sanctions the use of seatbelts in cars, but it also employs sanctions against South Africa. So 'sanction' means to endorse and/or condemn.

Huh?

Similarly, 'fast' can mean speedy or it can mean immobile. You can run fast or be stuck fast in the mud. You can 'dust' a crop in the field (pour crud on it) or you can 'dust' the living room table (wipe crud off it).

The word 'left' can be used to mean departed or still remaining. (He left this morning. There's only one cupcake left.)

'Overlook' can be taken to mean to inspect or ignore, 'buckle' can mean to wilt or tie together. Can someone please tell me how any mere human being can be expected to make sense of a language that features Janus words--words that can have exactly opposite interpretations

Like the word 'conservative'. My dictionary says it comes from the word 'conserve' meaning to preserve and protect (the countryside).

So how does that explain Brian Mulroney?

Et cetera

Chamber News

Press release issued by the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce:

As you are aware, the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce is having a fund raising dinner/dance at the PineStone Resort and Conference Centre, featuring the nationally acclaimed 17 piece orchestra, Canadian Tribute to Glenn Miller, plus John McNab and the Fabulous Moonbeams.

In conjunction with that evening we are making the following special offer: put together a table of eight, and we will give you two free tickets! In other words, for every six tickets sold at $80 each, we will give you two free tickets to make up a table of eight. The price includes cocktails, a sumptuous dinner, then dancing or tapping your toes to the sounds of a Big Band, live in the Highlands.

The volunteer dance committee has worked hard to put together a great evening of fine dining and entertainment. The purpose of the evening is to raise funds for the Chamber to continue to support the business community of the Highlands.

The menu is delicious: Cream of roots soup; 8 oz. pinwheel tenderloin; roast baby new potatoes, fresh, seasoned vegetables; selection of freshly baked rolls; fresh fruit in phyllo/sabayon with chocolate garnish; complimentary bottle of wine, coffee or tea.

Reservations are required for this special event. Payment and reservations must be received at one of the following locations by 5 p.m. Wednesday October 16:

- The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce office;
- Marion Teatro, Haliburton Hairdressing, Halco building, Haliburton;
- Dawson Insurance Brokers, Highland Street, Haliburton;
- Donna at Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, Minden.

Don't miss such favourites as Moonlight Serenade, In the Mood, At Last, Chattanooga Choo Choo, and Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree with Anyone Else But Me, played by Canada's finest orchestra. We hope you can join us for this special event.

The following is a press release from Victoria County Tourism.

The Internet currently has 35 million users world-wide and 360,000 Web Sites. These numbers are growing daily as more people see the benefits of being connected to information from around the world. You may not be on the 'Net' because the terminology or computers are just too daunting to learn. What you need is someone to give you the basics in plain simple language. Some of you may own a business and wonder whether it would benefit from being on the Internet.

The benefits of having your business or products marketed on the Internet include: the affordability in relation to other more traditional marketing techniques; 24 hour access to potential customers from around the world; ability to update information easily and inexpensively if rates or products change; and you can receive immediate feedback about your business by electronic mail through the Internet.

Victoria County Tourism, as part of the annual meeting for tourism operators, is offering a half day workshop on the Internet, with emphasis on using the Internet as a marketing tool. The workshop will be led by an instructor from Sir Sandford Fleming College at Career House on Durham Street West in Lindsay. Each participant will have their own computer to follow the instructor as he demonstrates how to navigate through the Internet. The class size will be limited to 15 to ensure everyone gets hands on experience. Each participant will receive a package of information to take home. The cost is $25 per person plus GST for the three and a half hour session. For registration information contact Victoria County Tourism at 324-9411, extension 233.

CAP program offers Internet access

Wilberforce, as well as having two computers for portable use in various locations throughout the area.

A committee has been established under the Haliburton County Development Corporation. Our first step is to apply for funding which is available at up to 50 cents on the dollar. The community's portion can come in the form of cash donations, donated services, equipment or donated time (in kind donations) which all have a cash value.

To date we have a site and equipment donated by Sir Sandford Fleming College, as well as equipment donated by the Haliburton County Development Corporation for the portable unit. Bell Canada is making a donation to help offset the cost of local phone lines, and Halinet is donating a portion of the Internet access time.

There will be people trained to help teach others to use the Internet. An example of a location is the Chamber of Commerce office. There will be someone there to show people how to use the Internet. The portable will be available for use by groups such as Boy Scouts and service clubs.

One section of the application for grant funding requests information on community interest. That is the intent of my letter. We are asking: do you think this program would be of benefit to the community? We are also seeking individuals or companies who would like to assist in this effort with the donation of funds, equipment, supplies, donated time or who just support the program in principle. If you are interested, please drop us a letter. Send the letter to Andy Campbell at the Haliburton Highlands Development corporation office in Haliburton or give it to John Pentney or Brian Kernohan in Minden.

Westside, Home Hardware winners in MMHA

by Jerry Grozelle

Registration for the Minden Men's Hockey Association (MMHA) is down for the 1996-97 season. Instead of the six teams the Association has iced for many years, the number has dropped to four. The newly formed Minden Oldtimers' Hockey League has obviously drawn some of the former MMHA players.

A notable change in the MMHA format has the games extended to three periods from the usual two of the past.

The MMHA kicked off its season Monday, October 7 with a pair of games. The opener saw Westside Jug City score the last two goals of the game to record an 8-6 win over Kountry Double D.

After scoring the first goal of the game, Westside fell behind 2-1 by the end of the first period.

KDD went ahead 3-1 early in the second, but Westside rebounded with three in a row to take over the lead at 4-3. KDD notched one more before the frame ended to knot the game at 4-4 going into the third.

Westside forged ahead with two markers in a row, but KDD replied with two straight to even the score at 6-6. Westside sniper Jamie Dollo netted the last two goals of the game to clinch the win. Kent Taylor assisted on both of Dollo's goals and Gord Wood helped set up the go-ahead marker. Taylor scored two goals earlier in the game and Wood notched one and two more assists. Jeff Black added two goals to the winning tally and a single and one assist went to Sheldon Stevenson. Darnell Gilbert picked up three assists, Craig Phillips notched a pair and singles went to John Ballantyne and Tony Vanlieshout.

Scott Danilko, Greg Hurtle, Paul Walker, John Hewson, Scott Hamilton and Curtiss Reynolds were the KDD marksmen. Danilko added two assists, with Dwayne Warburton, Hamilton, Craig Crowe, Reynolds and Tom Miscio adding one helper each.

Home Hardware 10, Hartwick 9

The second game of the night was an even higher scoring affair than the first. A total of 19 goals were netted as Home Hardware edged Hartwick Construction 10-9.

Hartwick got off to a good start, scoring the first two goals of the game. But Home Hardware rebounded with five straight to take a 5-2 lead after one period.

Hartwick cut the lead to 9-8 by the end of the middle frame, then scored the first two markers of the third to regain the lead at 9-8. But the Home crew scored two in a row and held on for the 10-9 win.

Three members of the Home Hardware team scored hat tricks. Joe Sullivan added four assists to his hat trick; Chris Eskelin added two assists and Scott Nesbitt had the other three-goal performance. Peter Allore scored a single. Mike Keaney helped the winning cause with four assists, with single helpers going to John Walden and Dean Sisson.

Jeff Howe scored a hat trick for Hartwick Construction. Wyatt Nesbitt and Ivan Ingram added two goals and one assist each; Glenn Hall and Tom Bagshaw each notched a goal and one assist; and single helpers went to Terry Allore, Jason Stamp and Greg Sisson.

The Minden Men's Hockey Association will play two games every Monday evening beginning at 8 p.m.

HHSS junior football team one win away from Kawartha West championship title

by Bruce Griffith

Win number seven for the junior Redmen football team leaves the team with only one more win needed to be Kawartha West champion.

High winds, snow and the debut of the HHSS Spirit Club were featured on Thursday, October 10 as the local boys scored a big win over the Lindsay Collegiate (LCVI) Spartans.

In the first offensive series for the Redmen, tailbacks Devon Dart and Jason Henry had huge gains, with impressive blocking by the offensive line. Minutes into the game, quarterback Mike Morissette ran the option play into the end zone for six points. On the very next series, Dart scored, but the touch down was called back on a penalty flag. This did not deter the boys as Jason Henry, on the very next play, power-housed his way into the end zone for six more points.

With a comfortable 14-0 lead, the rookie squad was put into the game for the kick-off. But with a spectacular 85-yard run back, the Spartans closed the lead by seven points.

With no scoring in the second quarter, the Redmen defensive unit controlled the game. A kick was blocked by Logan Percy, a fumble was recovered by Graham Schakelaar, and Chris Moynes intercepted a pass.

Concentrating on reducing the amount of penalties against Haliburton, in the second half, the Redmen defence was caught by a quick passing play by LCVI, which resulted in a Spartan touch down. Missing the convert because of another great play by Logan Percy, the Redmen remained in front by a narrow 14-13 margin.

This served to fire up the Haliburton squad to play like champions. The Redmen machine cranked up its engines in the fourth quarter. Devon Dart, with incredible moves, scored touch down number three and Darren Gilbert dragged several Spartan players across the line to score TD number four.

Kicking specialist Ryan O'Neill kicked all four conversions and now has the incredible record of 12 for 12.

Taking out many of the starting players, the defence continued to control the game and rookie Danny Koz had a huge tackle in the LCVI end zone to pick up a two-point safety.

Coming off the bench was Andrew Burtch as defensive end. In two plays, he had two quarterback sacks and some big time "animal points."

Jon Swinson also carried the ball in for a touch down, but had it called back on a penalty.

The final score was Haliburton 30, Lindsay 13.

Peewee B Monarchs shaded 2-1 in season's first contest

-submitted-

The Minden peewee B hockey team bolted into action on the weekend with a game in Fenelon Falls. The game proved to be both encouraging and disappointing. With the introduction of full contact, these young gladiators were up to the challenge. Showing a lot of physical prowess and dogged determination was Jordan Campbell, who stood strong at centre and assisted on James Bleakly's first goal of the season.

That goal carried the Monarchs midway into the third period, when the Fenelon team scored its first goal, tying the game. Between the Minden pipes, Mark Snell turned in an outstanding performance, displaying cat-like reflexes and a sixth sense to find the puck in the midst of skates and legs. He held Minden in the game during some very intense moments.

In the dying moments of the game, and under a lot of pressure, Fenelon scored what proved to be the game-winning goal.

Standing solid on the blue line was Steven Johnston. With his stay-at-home positional play, he helped the Minden team throughout the game.

Honourable mention

The big hits of the game were by Nathan Koz and Allan Pugh. The big catch of the game was Mike Morissette, from Matt Reid. The game star honours went to Graham Fawcett.

With one more regular league game this Friday in Fenelon Falls, the Redmen will be concentrating on their passing game in order to prepare for the Kawartha championship in Peterborough on October 31.

goes to Matt Kenny, who admitted that he was somewhat nervous about starting in his first official game.

Greg Vanderlip, who has been moved to forward this season, proved that his ability and anticipation of the play make him a steady contributor to the team.

Graham Neave, who was fighting off the effects of a three-day flu, exhibited his steady play.

Ryan Porter, in his second year with the Minden team, showed once again that he is willing to be one of the hardest working members of the team.

Barry Dunn, feeling more comfortable on right wing and showing a pesky attitude toward his opponents, had a strong first game.

Coach Jim Bleakly said that the first goal was "a textbook goal — well executed by the boys." With a short bench this year, assistant coaches Brett Foster and Andy Campbell have a long season ahead of them. Minden's first home game will be tonight (Tuesday, October 15), when they take on local rivals, the Haliburton Huskies.

HALIBURTON HIGHLANDS OUTDOORS ASSOCIATION

Deerhound Lost-and-Found

This year the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association is running a service for deer & moose hunters and any person who may find a lost hound.

If you find a lost hound during this year's moose or deer hunt, first check the dog's collar for an identification plate with the owners name and phone number. If the dog has a number clipped or painted on it, you may contact the owner using the list below, or drop the dog off at a Lost-and-Found Centre. If the dog has no number you may drop the dog off at any one of the nine Deerhound Lost-and Found Centres listed below.

If you are the owner of a lost hound and are not registered with the Association, you should call any of the Lost-and-Found Centres. At the end of this year's hunt, unclaimed dogs will be turned over to the nearest municipal pound. Following the hunt, please call your municipal office.

Camps registered with the Lost-and-Found should display their camp number at their road entrance. To claim your dog at a Lost-and-Found Centre you must provide proper identification and pay a $5.00 per day boarding fee.

The Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association is an Association dedicated to the outdoor sport of hunting and fishing and currently has about 500 members. The Association thanks those individuals and businesses who have volunteered to act as a drop-off centre. If you wish to join the Association contact Roy Boughner Jr. 457-1926.

HHOA needs volunteers for lake trout spawning assessment

by Jerry Grozelle

Volunteers are needed to monitor lake trout spawning this fall. The Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association (HHOA) will be conducting spawning assessment exercises for two to three weeks to determine which spawning shoals are the most active in several lakes in three Haliburton County chains of lakes.

"We hope to do assessments on at least a couple of lakes in each of the three chains," said HHOA Vice-President Larry Hewitt, adding that it will depend on the number of volunteers, how many lakes the Association will be able to survey. The project will be co-ordinated by Hewitt, HHOA President Pat Kennedy and Tom Russell.

Hewitt said organizers hope to have enough volunteers to form six-person teams for each lake. The assessments will start when water temperatures reach 12 degrees Celsius and continue until water temperatures drop to six degrees C. Unless the weather is unseasonably warm, the water should remain in the target temperature range for a maximum of three weeks.

Optimum time for assessing spawning activities is from about 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. Hewitt explained that volunteers would have to be on the water every night during the spawning run to do an accurate survey.

The purpose of the survey is to determine which spawning beds are the most active in a given lake. Some time in the future, the data will be used to help establish the best sites from which collection of eggs can take place. Eggs that are collected will be hatched, either in a lakeside environment or at a Ministry of Natural Resources hatchery. The fish would then be restocked back into the lake chain from which they came. In that way, the natural gene pool won't be altered. By raising the fish in an artificial environment and stocking them back into their natural habitat, the number of fish that survive to the adult breeding stage can be dramatically increased, thereby significantly reducing the time needed to replenish depleted fish stocks. In natural fish populations, the percentage of hatchlings to reach the breeding stage is typically one per cent, or less. By raising the fish and restocking them, the production rises to 10 per cent. Any increase in percentage is compounded each year.

Hewitt compared the rate of return to paying 10 per cent of a mortgage off each year. All things being equal, the mortgage will be paid off in much less time by cutting the principle by 10 per cent annually.

"It's like a pyramid effect," he said.

Anyone interested in helping with the assessment process or looking for more information, can contact Larry Hewitt at 754-1162; Pat Kennedy at 457-2408 or Tom Russell at 457-2024.

HHSS clinches Kawartha berth

by Jerry Grozelle

A pair of wins last week clinched a berth in the Kawartha Championship for the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School junior field hockey team.

The Haliburton girls played two games at home last Wednesday, edging the St. Peter's Saints 3-2 and blanking Lakefield College School 3-0.

The HHSS girls took the lead against St. Peter's in the first game of the double header, but the Saints recovered and went ahead by a 2-1 score by the end of the first half. The Haliburton girls took control in the second half, scoring two unanswered goals for the 3-2 win.

Britney Hewitt scored the first goal for Haliburton, assisted by Kim Varty and Inga Haedicke. Amy Brandon notched both the tying and winning goals in the second half, with Haedicke and Varty combining to set up both goals.

The second game of the day saw the Hal High girls earn a 3-0 victory over Lakefield College School.

Varty scored the first goal of the game, from Katrina Matysek. Haedicke and Hewitt were the other sharpshooters, each scoring an unassisted goal.

The HHSS junior field hockey squad has just one regular season game left. That game will be in Peterborough this Wednesday against the Crestwood Mustangs.

Coach Thompson is pleased with the team's performance.

"They are playing great," she said.

SERVICE IS THE DIFFERENCE

Your local insurance broker serving the Highlands since 1952.

BARGAIN HUNTERS: The annual CHACE Place yard sale drew its usual throng of enthusiastic shoppers October 5. The event was held at Dave's on 35 with staff, board members and parents volunteering time and items for the tables. The sale raised some $600 for the local children's resource centres.

Local support group planned for acquired brain injury families, caregivers

Can you imagine what it would be like to remember your life history but not be able to remember what you did a month ago, or 15 minutes ago? Can you imagine what it would be like to bring a loved one home who will never cope with life's responsibilities the same again?

It is estimated that 800 people in Ontario die every year from brain injuries and 15,000 more have brain injuries serious enough to acquire hospitalization. Of this group, 1600 to 2500 are left with physical, intellectual and behavioural consequences severe enough to prevent return to an everyday way of living, similar to their pre-accident lifestyle. Further two-thirds of this group are below the age of 30.

When brain injury occurs, its effects reach from the individual who sustained the injury to the family, friends, employer and community. The effects can be physical, emotional and financial. Rehabilitation of brain injury persons who survive a serious head injury can take months and even years. Many such persons are unable to live independently, and require supervision and assistance to meet their daily tasks of living. Family members most often become the caregivers even though they are unprepared for such responsibilities.

Concerns that many family experience are role changes, social isolation, emotional and behavioural changes, anger and guilt feelings. One of the ways that they become better equipped to face the challenge at hand is through support groups.

Support groups for caregiver and individuals living with the effects of an acquired brain injury have been successful in meeting the emotional needs by providing a supportive network, decreasing isolation, allowing for ventilation and expression of feelings, reducing anxiety. Coming to a support group meeting offers realization that others have faced the same overwhelming issues and survived.

The first support group meeting in the Haliburton County area will take place on October 22 at the Haliburton Health Unit. The meeting is planned for 7-9 p.m. The initial support meetings will be facilitated by professional currently working with individuals and families living with the effects of acquired brain injury. The support meeting will take place in two rooms, one for peers and one for caregivers, followed by a get-together with refreshments.

If you would like more information, please phone Nancy Petit, at the Haliburton Health Unit, 457-1600 or Cheryl Greig, Peterborough and district Head Injury Association at 705-741-1172.

Local collection show looking for exhibits

Ruth Amos is on a scavenger hunt—seeking items as disparate as a bunch of Pepsi Cola bottles, an attic full of high button shoes or someone's prize collection of pop art.

Amos, administrator of the Agnes Jamieson Gallery, is organizing the annual Local Collection Show. She wants everything from porcelain tie clips to hand painted tea services.

"Our aim is to do a show so that everyone can see the treasures that usually are hidden away in private homes," Amos explained. "We want anything that is interesting. It doesn't have to be old."

In past years, collections of salt and pepper shakers, paper weights, milk bottles, medicine bottles and old hand irons have been shown.

If you have something of interest for the show, contact Ruth at the gallery.

The show will run from November 8 to 30.

THANK YOU

The Minden Business Improvement Area (BIA) merchants thank the many individuals who helped to make this summer's Music by the Gull concerts a success.

Thanks to all the performers, the "roadies" and volunteers who helped set up and take down each night, Clayton Cameron & members of the road crew, volunteer co-ordinators Russ Dubaime & Gord Graham, Gary Thurston for storage space and electrical power and everyone who turned out to enjoy the music. Special thanks to the Lions Club for financial support. We hope everyone enjoyed this year's Music by the Gull!

Student keeping fit in new business

by Sue Carr, HHSS student reporter

John Craig is a very busy teenager. Take Wednesday for example. While most students were at home, watching TV and perhaps sifting through piles of homework, John Craig, a student himself, was giving an interview, tutoring a fellow HHSS student, and worrying about the minor details that need to be ironed out at his gym.

That's right, his gym. At the beginning of October, John made one of the biggest investments of his 16 year life. He rented the building that was the former home of Island Paradise Fitness Centre, Haliburton's only gym, and purchased a ton or so of heavy weights for the public to lift. John is now owner of Island Paradise Fitness Centre, (expect to see a name change soon), quite the feat for someone his age.

Owning a small business is a difficult job for anyone, but John has the confidence to manage it. He is an intelligent student, with excellent priorities, and, is obviously good with money. Renting the gym each month, as well as purchasing the weights, requires a lot of money, but John prefers not to talk about the financial side of his business. Instead, he prefers to focus on the gym, he says.

Just the same, many teenagers are wondering how John earned enough money to start his own small business (especially those of us with less than two dollars in the bank.) Besides handling a job at Halco Electronics in Haliburton, John was able, through family connections, to land a position as an accountant, (although not a "chief accountant" he stresses), for the Pittsburgh Penguins last summer. He was in charge of receiving and recording ticket orders for the '95-'96 season, which meant that he had a lot of responsibility on his hands.

Now, John has even more responsibility. As owner of the gym, he is responsible, among other duties, for buying supplies, hiring staff, and attracting and enrolling new members. Within the next two years, at which time he will head off to university, John hopes to "establish a user base." At present time, he has seven full fledged members, but at the price of $25 a month, hopes to see more fitness buffs interested in working out. An aerobics class is a possibility if enough interest is expressed.

The costs of the gym shouldn't be a problem for John, who says, "I tend to think ahead. When I see money, I think, 'What can I do with it?', and then I think, 'What could I do if I had that much more?'"

Involved in football, cross-country running, drama, and golf, it seems that John would have a lack of time to worry about the small details that need to be considered when running a business, however when asked how he finds the time, John replied, "You just do. It's there, if you want to use it."

Island Paradise, with the dedication and hard-work that John is putting into it, is sure to be a success. It will be open from 4-8 on weekdays, and 12-4 on Saturdays, and it really does have "the best weight equipment in Haliburton" according to John. The several people who were sweating it out at the time of this interview agreed with his assessment. It will also be open all holidays, so that festive fitness freaks won't have to worry about the calories in their Christmas dinners. For more information regarding memberships, contact John Craig at his gym on Highlands Street, between Home Hardware and Pizza Den.

See you when the snow flies!

Thanks for a GREAT summer and fall. We're now closed for maintenance and a few repairs. We will re-open on December 27th.

Roll on sled season!

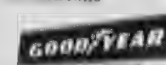

(have we got some FUN planned for YOU!)

ASES: School Council report

As reported last month, the Breakfast Program which we are planning to initiate this fall, will be looking for support from the community. Please contact the school at 286-1921, for advance information and ask for Maureen or Carol.

•The Milk Program: initiated this fall and running smoothly, milk is served during lunch time.

•The council is also organizing a "Snowsuit Drive" to enable every student to have an enjoyable winter. The Snowsuit Drive will be held October 22-25. Watch for details in the October school newsletter.

•On a less positive note, a letter has been sent to the Haliburton County Board of Education outlining the direct effect the budget cuts have had on our children due to the insufficient number of Educational Assistants.

•Also, Principal Peter Forgrave discussed the negative impacts of the Board policy regarding reduced supply coverage for staff absent from duties due to illness. While this policy was the result of reduced ministry funding, it is having a direct impact on students and staff.

•Drug Awareness Week will this year include a presentation by Anne McCracken of the Health Unit. Her presentation, "Drugs and Your Children" will emphasize drug prevention strategies to help keep your children drug-free on Wednesday, November 20.

•The next public meeting of the School Council will be held on November 6 at 7 p.m. in the library.

Dogs should be protected against parvovirus

The Times is pleased to welcome a new contributor Dr. Kimberly Joyce, veterinarian at the Minden Animal Clinic to these pages. Dr. Joyce will be writing a column on a variety of animal health care issues

by Dr. Kimberley Joyce

In the wake of the 1996 Rabies Clinic sponsored by the Ministry of Health, many owners believe their animals to be fully vaccinated. Unfortunately, this is not the case.

Canine parvovirus is alive and well in Haliburton County. Dogs of any age can be infected, but puppies under six months of age are most vulnerable. Puppies under six weeks are generally protected by the antibodies obtained from their vaccinated mother's milk. This immunity begins to decrease at approximately eight weeks, hence the need for vaccination and boosters at eight, twelve and sixteen weeks of age. Certain breeds are at high risk and appear to be more susceptible to severe infections. These include Rottweillers, Doberman Pinschers, Pit Bull Terriers and black Labrador Retrievers.

Parvovirus causes loss of appetite, fever, vomiting, profuse diarrhoea and rapid dehydration. Death may occur in severe cases despite treatment. There is no cure for parvovirus. Victims of parvovirus are supported in the veterinary clinic with intravenous fluids, injectable drugs to control vomiting and antibiotics to protect the dog from secondary bacterial infection. This is a costly venture involving hundreds of dollars.

Parvovirus is the most common viral killer of pet dogs but occasionally canine distemper, hepatitis, parainfluenza, corona viruses and leptospirosis surface from the shadows. When these diseases strike you can be sure that the outcome can be tragic.

Please take to heart the recommendations put forth by your veterinarian regarding full immunization against all Canine viruses including rabies. As cliché as it sounds, 'an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure'. Please feel free to contact your veterinary clinic with your questions or concerns.

The next instalment will present the most common forms of feline infection.

Attention Forest Landowners

1996 Managed Forest Tax Rebate Program

The Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) wishes to inform forest landowners that to qualify for the 1996 Managed Forest Tax Rebate Program you must prepare a property management plan.

A helpful booklet, entitled "A Woodland Management Plan", has been prepared jointly by the Ontario Forestry Association, the Ontario Woodlot and Sawmill Operators Association, and the Ministry of Natural Resources to assist you in the preparation of the management plan.

You are invited to attend a free workshop to discuss the booklet in detail. Staff will be available to answer any questions you may have about the preparation of the management plan or about the rebate program.

The workshop will be held on:

Date: Tuesday, October 29, 1996
Location: Pinestone Inn
Hwy. 121
(between Minden and Haliburton)
Time: 7:00 p.m.

Copies of the booklet will be on sale at the workshop.

Monthly report

HHSS School Council

The school council's function is to bring together the community and analyse and provide input to the school on major issues. The council's input will allow HHSS to respond to its community, while assuming a major role in establishing partnerships with parents and others for the improvement of student learning.

We have developed a mission statement which reflects our commitment to HHSS. It reads: "The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Council is a collective association of parents, high school staff, students and community representatives to offer advice and encouragement to the school principal and where appropriate, the school board, in matters that will promote the well-being and the effectiveness of the entire school community and thereby enhance student learning."

One of our mandates this year is to open the lines of communication and keep all parents and/or guardians of our students informed regarding what is happening at the school.

Did you know?

•745 students are enrolled in HHSS this fall

•75 boys play football
•36 girls play field hockey
•36 boys play soccer
•25 students are involved in cross-country running

•53 students showed up for the School Spirit Squad

•approximately $22,000 was given out during the Awards Ceremony on Saturday, October 12 to all those who worked very hard at their studies.

•fall progress reports will be sent home with the students on October 22.

•Parent/Teacher night will be held this fall on Wednesday October 23 from 7 to 9 p.m. for grade 9 students and on Thursday, October 24, 7 to 9 p.m. for grades 10 to OAC. This is your opportunity to speak to the teachers and discuss your child's progress.

•Professional development workshop for parents... "Understanding Post-Secondary Education" will take place on Thursday October 24, 7-9 p.m. in Room 21 of the high school. Topics will include: What are the choices available? Admission requirements; admission procedures; success strategies; financing higher education.

•P.A. Days: October 21 and November 15.

•Hallowe'en dance October 25.

•The Student Activity Council (SAC) and Mr. Longo are in the middle of a "chocolate bar campaign". The sale will help raise money for the students' activities for the coming year. Thank you to all those who have supported this event thus far and please continue to do so.

The HHSS School Council meets on the fourth Wednesday of each month at the high school. The next meeting will be October 30. These meetings are open to everyone who has a student enrolled in the school. Please feel free to attend.

Also on Thursday, October 17 at 2 p.m., the Minden and District Horticultural Society is having a tree planting ceremony on the South Water St. river bank, opposite the Clergy House residence. The ceremony is in commemoration of Beatrice Taylor.

Alzheimer Victoria, Family Support Group, reminds everyone concerned that it meets alternate Tuesdays from 2:00 to 3:30 p.m. in the Coboconk Anglican Christ Church. Their first meeting was October 1 so circle October 15 and 29 etc. on your calendars. For further information call 705-878-0126 or 1-800-765-0515.

A special thanks to everyone who purchased tickets in support of the new Minden Signs. Don't they look great? Dorothy and Bob Muirhead were the winners of the (sign) draw held August 18. They will be enjoying a weekend at a lodge, 4 golf packages, go-cart rides, mini-golf and $200 spending money.

The winner of the Minden Seniors 636 quilt was Bernice Francis of Minden. Congratulations Bernice.

John Hooper of Ottawa paid a short visit with Mike and Yvonne Newell, Jim and Gladys Dugan and Russell and Marie Baker last week. John was in the area taking pictures of the beautiful fall colours.

The executive from the Terrace has planned the annual Thanksgiving event, a turkey dinner, with everyone bringing food items. They also held the monthly draw and Peggy George won it again. Plans were made for a colour tour and, hopefully, a sunny day will come along as an extra bonus for the residents to enjoy. After the business was cleared away, the Grandfathers Four band, comprised of Don, Bill and Eldon, played a great selection of favourites for everyone to listen and dance to. Eldon's wife, Mabel, was able to join them and they were glad she came. The Terrace continues with its winter games - euchre Monday evenings, cribbage Friday afternoons and bid euchre Saturday afternoons. There is also time to stay in shape with exercise programs.

Sorry to report that Lloyd Johnson has been hospitalized. He is being treated for pneumonia. We wish him well.

St. Paul's Friendship Club euchre results: Ann Richmond from Moore Falls and Jeanne Sears won the high scores last week, Bill Mosley the low score, Iris Taylor lone hands and Verna McDonald the 50-50 draw. They meet next on Monday October 21 at 1:30 p.m. All welcome.

Club 35 euchre results: Marg Fletcher and Gala Stamp won the high scores last week, Tom Pearson lone hands and Mary Schad the 50-50 draw. Now I know why everyone at this club strives desperately to score. I have seen the booby prize for getting skunked and believe me you wouldn't want it. Meet Mondays at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome. Partners not required.

Contract bridge is played Tuesdays at 1 p.m. in the Stanhope Library and last week Marion Irwin was first, Dorothy Strype second, Peter West third. Last May, Russ Fair had an unprecedented score of 7180 but this night Russ lost the title to Marion who recorded 7630. Two small slams were also bid and made, one by Russ Fair and Marion and one by Wynne Hansen and Dorothy. Everyone welcome.

Seniors bid euchre is played in the Minden Legion Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m. and last week's winners were Ann Baker first, Mary Wilson second and Bill Menard/Norm Lee tied for third. Jean Scadden had the hidden score with moonshots by Iris Taylor and Shirley Elcome.

Euchre winners from last week's play in the Lochlin Community Centre were Neil Cartwright and Rheta Crofts high score, Johnny Johnson and Dorothy McElwain low score, Bruce O'Brien lone hands. Meet Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m.; October 15 in Gelert and October 22 in Lochlin.

Results of the bid euchre games played last week in the Stanhope Firefighters Hall were Ken Wallace 313, Jeanne Penick 290, Pearl Foster 280, Jim Irwin 271, Marj Hamilton 266 and Pat Scadden 262. Helen Henderson had the hidden score and there were 4 moonshots recorded. Meet Wednesdays at 7 p.m.

The top winners of the euchre played October 3 in the Minden Legion were Iris Taylor and Roy McDonald high score, Murray MacKinnon and Jean Scadden low score, Helen Donaldson and Marcel Rousselle most lone hands. Meet Thursdays at 7:15 p.m.

HEALTH CORNER

A new study has found that vitamin E, aside from its benefits as an antioxidant, may actually protect the brain and immune system from the ravages of age. The study concluded that older animals taking vitamin E showed a marked delay in their deterioration leading researchers to believe that humans may reap the same benefits. Vitamin E is found in vegetable oils, seeds and nuts, but to be effective, supplements of 400 international units/day are required.

Praise our Lord, another prayer answered that I was praying for. Not too hot and humid. When farmers and gardens had a two week late start, please see they get those two weeks longer when it becomes fall.

P.S. 100% true!

Love from Simone.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SHARON & ANDY POLDAAS

from your friends in Haliburton County
Wish you were here so we could celebrate with you.

CARDS OF THANKS

Bill and I would like to thank you and say goodbye to all our friends and neighbours who have made us so welcome during our years in Minden. I should like to give special thanks to my line dancing friends for their prayers and concern for my daughter during her surgeries. I will miss you all, especially Nancy, Lila and Julie. To all our friends at Branch 636 and the Curling group, again thanks for all your kindness. We hate to leave Minden but my medical condition makes it too risky for us to stay.

Our sincere thanks.
Gina and Bill Blyth.

A sincere "Thank You" to our many friends and neighbours in Minden and Carnarvon for all the help and support shown to us these past weeks. A special "thanks" to Dave Bryan who was first on the scene. We will never forget you. Thanks to Rev. Peter and Barbara, to the ambulance crew, both by land and air, to Dr. Dave Fiddler and that "Wonderful, Much Needed Little Minden Hospital" and for all the cards, well wishes, calls, visits, fruit baskets, flowers and your prayers. A special thank you to Doug and Skip Ray for so many things too numerous to mention. Also thanks for the "groundcrew" who kept our lawns mowed. Once again we say thank you. We appreciate everything everyone has done.

Ruth and Anthony Samarillo

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late Linda Shepstone would like to thank Linda's and our many friends and relatives for their kindness both before and after Linda's death. Minden is THE place to be!

The family of the late Marion Esther Macdonald would like to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to everyone for the floral tributes, charitable donations, cards and visits at the time of her death. Special thanks to the doctors and nurses at Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, all the caring staff at Caressant Care, Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, Minden, Rev. Teresa Ramsey-McNeil, the pallbearers and the Kinmount UCW for serving lunch.

Audrey, Chris, Kathy, John and her cousins.

AT REST

Walter

At Haliburton Hospital on Sunday, October 6, 1996 in his 91st year. Beloved husband of Florence McElwain and the late Jessie Hunter. Loving father of Jean (Mrs. Don Iles) of Haliburton and Donna (Mrs. Paul Thain) of Winnipeg, Manitoba. Loving stepfather of Joyce (Mrs. Eric Bain), Jim Scheffee (Arlene), Gordon Scheffee (Susan) all of Haliburton, Lyn (Mrs. Stephen Best) of Edmonton, Alberta and Larry Scheffee of Seattle, Washington. Lovingly remembered by fifteen grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Dear brother of Florence Smith of Prince Albert. Predeceased by brothers George and Charles. Also lovingly remembered by many nieces and nephews. Friends called at the HALIBURTON COMMUNITY FUNERAL HOME, Hwy # 118, Haliburton (705) 457-9209 on Monday, October 7 from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. Then to HALIBURTON UNITED CHURCH on Tuesday morning, October 8, 1996 for Funeral Service at 11 o'clock. Interment Evergreen Cemetery, Haliburton. As expressions of sympathy donations to the Canadian Cancer Society or the Haliburton Hospital Auxiliary would be appreciated.

WILKINSON,
Reverend Donald J. of Kinmount

On Friday, October 4, 1996 in his 88th year. Survived by his wife Doreen of Kinmount; children Jack and his wife Karen of Stouffville, Judith Brown and her husband Bob of Sackville, New Brunswick, David of Oakville, Donald and his wife Kelly of Whitehorse, Yukon, Faith Wilkinson-Clood and her husband Harold of Leaside and Shawn of Richmond Hill. Also survived by eight grandchildren, brother Jack and sister Doreen, both of England. Memorial Service was held Saturday, October 12 at 1:30 p.m. at Kinmount Baptist Church. Memorial donations for the Alzheimer Society or the Kinmount Baptist Church would be appreciated.

IN MEMORIAM

CREGO, Joe - In loving memory a dear father who passed away October 11, 1995. *Your end was very sudden
No time to say goodbye
You were gone before we realized
And only God knows why.
Our lives go on without you
And nothing is the same,
We hide our heartaches
When someone speaks your name.
Sad are the hearts that loved you*

*Silent are the tears that fall,
Living our lives without you
Is the hardest thing of all.
You did so many things for us
Your heart was kind and true
And when we needed someone
We could always count on you.
In our waking thoughts,
In our resting dreams,
In our hearts forever,
Love, Phebe & Tom
and your new grandson Dalton.*

CREGO, Joe - In loving memory of our dad who passed away October 11, 1995. *A year ago you left us Dad
Without a last goodbye,
What we would give if we could say
Hello to you today.
Life is not the same now
Since you were called away
The family chain is broken
But we know we'll meet some-day.
So dear God, please take a message
To our Dad above.
Tell him how much we miss him
And give him all our love.
Forever loved and always missed
Carrie and Blair.*

WRIGHT, Eunice - In loving memory of my dear wife Eunice who passed away October 14, 1994. *Two years since the sad day
The one I loved was called away
God took her home, It was His will
But in my heart she liveth still.
Sadly missed by husband
Truman*

IN MEMORIAM

PHILLIPS, Blanche and Goldie - In loving memory of our parents, grandparents and great-grandparents who passed away October 16, 1993.

*"Until we meet again
May God hold you in the hollow of His hand"*

*Always, forever in our hearts.
Gerald, Danny, David, Donnie,
Doug, Glenn, Pat, Dolly,
Rosie, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.*
